Need help deciding what is a better choice for you, Windows 10 or Windows 10 Pro Retail version?

What is the difference between Windows 10 Home and Windows 10 Pro?

Usage: This is aimed for mostly basic users, typically for home use and casual use, for users who do not really need access to all the advanced functionalities. Therefore, it is suitable for individuals or families rather than professionals and businesses.

Features: Both Windows 10 Home and Pro offer a variety of features, although Windows 10 Pro offers some additional functionalities such as Remote Desktop Hosting, BitLocker Encryption, Group Policy Editor, and Hyper-V virtualization which are not necessarily useful if you're using it casually as a regular user. Windows 10 Pro users also benefit from additional RAM support, 2TB compared to a 128 GB RAM support on Windows 10 Home.

Price: On our main website www.gamers-outlet.net, the price of a single Windows 10 Pro OEM key is low, whereas the Windows 10 Home OEM key costs lower. Both of them can be activated anywhere globally.
